Book Discussion Groups

Tinley Tomes

Tinley Tomes comprises two groups that discuss a variety of fiction and nonfiction books. One group meets at 1:30 pm on the second Wednesday of the month and the other at 7:30 pm on the fourth Tuesday. Titles are available at the Adult Reference Desk in hardcover, large print, and audio formats one month before the discussion date. All discussions will be held in Meeting Room A.

Tuesday Tomes Selections – 7:30 pm

September 24

The Burgess Boys by Elizabeth Strout

Some would say that adulthood is the process of working out and working through our primary familial relationships, particularly those with parents and siblings. In The Burgess Boys, award-winning novelist Elizabeth Strout puts this truism to the test. Jim and Bob Burgess, both New York attorneys, are called to their childhood hometown of Shirley Falls to rescue their nephew Zach from a bad scrape. The question at the heart of the novel is whether Zach's troubles will serve to steady or disrupt the delicate balance among the Burgess siblings.

October 22

The Shadow Catcher by Marianne Wiggins

A creative re-imagining of the life of Edward Curtis, known for his iconic photographs of Native Americans during their transition from traditional to reservation life. Novelist Wiggins starkly depicts the contrast between Curtis' public and private selves and draws parallels between the passions of Curtis and those of her own father. Somehow, the journey to uncover the real Curtis becomes an exercise in self-discovery.

November 26

The Interestings by Meg Wolitzer

Wolitzer's newest book follows five ambitious teens who ironically dub themselves "the Interestings" through trials and tribulations as they transition from their teenage years in the '70s to adulthood. Comic, informative, and entertaining, this novel will keep Baby Boomers turning pages as they travel down memory lane.

Wednesday Tomes Selections – 1:30 pm

September 11

Still Alice by Lisa Genova

In Still Alice, Dr. Alice Howland--busy Harvard psychology professor, wife, and mother--begins forgetting everyday names and places. Attributing the forgetfulness to aging and a hectic schedule, Alice is shocked to learn that, at age 50, she has early-onset Alzheimer's disease. With compassion and a vast knowledge of this devastating disease, author and neuroscientist Dr. Lisa Genova writes a fictional account of one woman's struggle with Alzheimer's and her realization that she is about to lose everything that is dear to her.

October 9

The Professor and the Madman by Simon Winchester
The subtitle of this book neatly sums up the contents: A Tale of Murder, Insanity, and the Making of the Oxford English Dictionary. Civil war surgeon William Minor becomes a prolific contributor to the world's most prestigious dictionary despite highly unusual circumstances.

November 13

Life after Life by Jill McCorkle

From an old man feigning dementia so his son will leave him alone to a judge's widow who keeps a scrapbook on murder, everyone in the Pine Haven Retirement Facility has a story. Joanna, a hospice volunteer, is determined to record each person's life history so they will not be forgotten. As the residents process what it means to make new lives after their old ones have ended, these stories are, by turns, wickedly funny and unflinchingly tragic.

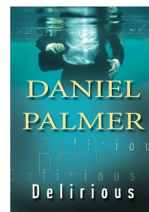

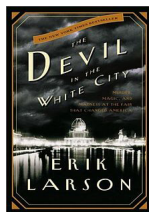

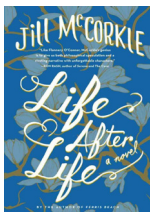

Books with Buzz is our bestselling book discussion group.

The group meets in Meeting Room A at 7:30 pm on the third Thursday of every other month.

Fall meeting dates are September 19 and November 21. Because we pick books that are fresh off the press, selections are announced on our website rather than in the newsletter. Check our book discussions page (<http://tplibrary.org/events/book-discussion-groups>) for fall selections one month before the discussion date—or just drop by the Adult Reference Desk, where discussion books are kept.

The author combines diligent research and excellent storytelling as he weaves together the true stories of the 1893 Chicago World's Fair and a diabolical serial killer who used the fair to lure his victims to their deaths.
